Art Unit: 1616

Claims 1, 3-27, 29-53, 56-60 are pending. Claims 20-26 and claims 45-51 are withdrawn from prosecution.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3-19, 27, 29-44, 52-53, 56-60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lambert et al in view of Benet et al and Azuma et al.

Lambert et al teach an emulsion comprising surfactants and a therapeutic (abstract). Taxol is disclosed as most preferred (column 3 line 67). Poloxamer 123, elected in by applicants in the paper filed 12/19/03, is disclosed (column 5 line 52). Oral delivery is specified (column 4 line 18). Antioxidants are disclosed (column 10 line 21).

Benet et al teach essential oils to increase the bioavailability of pharmaceutical compounds (title) Spearmint (claim 6) and taxol (claim 5) are disclosed.

Azuma et al teach that gentisic acid is an antioxidant (column 4 lines 15-17).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to add an essential oil to the composition of Lambert et al to achieve the beneficial effect of increasing the bioavailability of taxol in view of Benet et al and to further add gentisic acid to achieve the beneficial effect of an antioxidant in view of Azuma et al. Applicants argue that Benet et al teach only concurrent administration of active and essential oil. However, mixing the drug with essential oil is also disclosed (column 25 lines 36-39). As to the claimed property of a structured fluid, the obvious composition must possess said property because it is the same as that claimed.

No claims allowed.
